

Annual TLPF Golf Tournament

Oct. 3, 2009/Angel Park Golf Club, Las Vegas, Nevada

BLANK AREA FOR OFFICE USE ONLY

Golf Tournament

The Annual Gateway Insurance Golf Tournament to benefit the Taxicab, Limousine & Paratransit Foundation will be the first event of the 91st TLPA Annual Convention & Trade Show in Las Vegas, NV.

Times

The tournament will be held Saturday, Oct. 3, with departure from Caesars Palace at 11:30 a.m. and a shotgun tee-off at 1:00 p.m. An awards ceremony with dinner, drinks, and drawings for door prizes will conclude the event.

Sponsors

As it has since 2001, Gateway Insurance Company, St. Louis, Missouri, is the tournament sponsor. Rich Kleinschmidt at Gateway is the honorary chairman of the tournament. The Black Car Assistance Corporation/The Black Car Fund through Victor Dizengoff is the banquet sponsor.

Course

The Angel Park Golf Club's Mountain Course is desert golf at its finest. Winding through the rolling natural terrain and skirting dense stands of native vegetation, this course is at an elevation of 2,800 feet and features panoramic views of the Spring Mountains, Red Rock Mountains and the Las Vegas skyline that are simply spectacular. The course, designed by Arnold Palmer and Ed Seay features 6,722 yards of golf from the longest tees for a par of 71. The course rating is 72.4 and it has a slope rating of 128. The course plays havoc with approach shots. Undulating greens and uphill approaches are the keys to master for a good score here. Most of the greens are elevated and mounded, so reading the greens is tricky. The 428-yard par-4 No. 10 hole defines the Mountain course. It requires an accurate tee shot, a second shot over the cart path and over a strip of desert landscaping onto a very uneven green. And don't think the course is going to get easy as you near the clubhouse, No. 17 has a split fairway and long hitters will probably come up short of the green on their second shot.
